

Hepatitis A Virus Infection: Stop the Spread

Why should you care about Hepatitis A? If a person has an infection with the Hepatitis A virus, it can easily spread from person-to-person and cause liver disease or serious illness. In 2017, Hepatitis A has caused 4 deaths in San Diego County.

How does it spread?

- Touching objects or eating food that someone with Hepatitis A infection has handled
- Having sex with someone who has a Hepatitis A infection
- By the fecal-oral route (when an uninfected person ingests food or water that has been contaminated with even a tiny or microscopic amount of feces from an infected person)

How can you prevent Hepatitis A?

- Get the Hepatitis A vaccine
- Don't have sex with someone who has Hepatitis A infection
- Use your own towels, toothbrushes, eating utensils, or other personal items
- Don't share food, drinks, or smokes with other people
- Wash your hands frequently, especially after using the bathroom or changing diapers, and before handling food

Symptoms Fever, Fatigue, Nausea, Vomiting, Loss of Appetite, Stomach Pain, Jaundice (yellowing of the skin or eyes), Dark Urine, Pale Stools, Diarrhea
